Contract wins

Access Intelligence (AIM: ACC), the technology innovator delivering Software-as-a-Service (SaaS) solutions for the global marketing and communications industries, is pleased to announce a number of contract wins across the globe in the last two months.

In North America, a significant contract worth £0.5m per annum has been won with a customer seeking to use the Company's technology to obtain greater insights into its local and global communications strategy. Other important wins in North America in the last two months include Basis Technologies and a partnership with Reddit to deliver strategic research to be presented at Cannes 2023 Festival of Creativity.

In EMEA, recent contract wins with new customers include the Delegation of the European Union to the United Kingdom, Iris Worldwide, Matalan, Mayborn Group, Punch Taverns and the Office of the Children's Commissioner.

In APAC, the Company has won contracts with CBRE, the Department of Fire and Emergency Services, Tesla and Uluru Dialogues. Uluru Dialogues is a body that represents a movement to gain greater constitutional recognition for indigenous Australians ahead of a referendum on the topic during 2023. The Board are delighted to support such an important endeavour.

Joanna Arnold, Chief Executive of Access Intelligence, said:

"Our market leading products and award winning insights offering provide a global opportunity and we are therefore delighted with the contracts won over the last two months across each of our geographic regions."
