Executive Chair's AGM statement

We were pleased to announce an encouraging set of financial results for 2022, with revenues in line with market expectations, driven by strong growth in our established Point of Care and Life Sciences businesses. The results also provided an update on the progress of the Life Sciences fermentation investment, which remains an exciting opportunity to deliver rapid scaling of operational volume and with the potential for significant revenue growth beyond current conservative guidance.

To that end, we were very pleased to announce the successful completion of the quality management audits for our enzyme fermentation sites in Indiana, and that we remain on track for operational activity from the new fermenters this summer, as well as the completion of validation for our largest fermenter by the end of Q3 2023. It's worth repeating part of the announcement made at the time: "Developing our quality assurance as we increase our capacity is key to the successful scale-up of these operations and I'm delighted that we remain on track."

Trading in the first quarter of 2023 has been in-line with the Board expectations, and with the expected contribution from our expanded Life Sciences capacity coming online over the second half of the year, we naturally expect our overall financial performance to be more H2-weighted than historically. Continued growth from our 'razor, razor blade' consumable model in Point of Care is also expected to contribute to that positive momentum as we progress through the financial year.
