Notes to Editors

Northcoders is one of the UK's highest quality technology training businesses, offering tuition across a broad suite of digital areas including software development, data engineering and cloud engineering (DevOps). Founded in 2015, the Group's B2C and B2B programmes are award winning, and this premium reputation has helped grow a network of 600+ corporate hiring partners for its alumni.

The Group is focused on making an immediate impact on corporate diversity and accessibility, and its remote learning courses are offering individuals across the UK, from every background, entry to the technology skills market. As emerging technologies further increase the need for digital experts, demand for these services continues to grow. Through further geographic expansion, customer diversification, new training formats and new course introductions, Northcoders is rapidly scaling to address the UK's digital skills gap.

Northcoders was admitted to trading on AIM in July 2021 with the ticker CODE. For additional information please visit investors.northcodersgroup.com.
