

GALLIFORD TRY APPOINTED TO £87 MILLION COMMERCIAL LONDON PROJECTS

Galliford Try, the UK construction group, announces that it has been appointed to two new commercial contracts in London worth a combined £87 million.

Firstly, the Building business has been appointed by Cadogan for the £53 million redevelopment of 30-33 Sloane Street, in London, retaining the historic façade while creating a new six-storey building comprising new luxury retail units fronting Sloane Street, Category A offices and a new rooftop restaurant.

The Building business has also signed a £34 million contract with Big Yellow Self Storage to complete a new facility in Wapping, East London. The project will create 133,000 sqft (MLA) comprising a self-storage facility with flexible offices, business hub and workspace accommodation.

Bill Hocking, Chief Executive of Galliford Try, commented: "Maintaining the organic growth of our Building business is a key part of our Sustainable Growth Strategy and our track record in the commercial sector within London is a strong one. We look forward to working with both these blue chip clients to create schemes that we can be proud of and enhance the local environment."
