First interim dividend - exchange rate and Irish dividend withholding tax

17 January 2025 - Experian plc, the global information services company, hereby notifies the market that, further to the announcement on 13 November 2024 of a first interim dividend of 19.25 US cents per ordinary share payable on 7 February 2025 to shareholders on the register of members at the close of business on 10 January 2025, the exchange rate to be used to convert the dividend payment from US dollars to sterling pounds, for those shareholders who did not elect by 10 January 2025 to receive payment in US dollars, will be £1 = 1.21984. Accordingly, the sterling amount of dividend payable on 7 February 2025 to such shareholders will be approximately 15.7807 pence per share.

Shareholders who did not elect to receive UK sourced dividends through the income access share arrangements are reminded that, as previously advised, their dividends will be subject to Irish dividend withholding tax unless the Company's Registrars are in possession of a valid exemption form. As previously advised, the final date for submission of elections to receive UK sourced dividends via the income access share arrangements was 10 January 2025. In the absence of any such elections, previous elections or deemed elections will remain in force.
