The Chairman also held a letter of representation in connection with a corporate shareholder in respect of 117,068,770 shares not included in the above proxies.

All resolutions were passed unanimously on a show of hands.

The Company's Corporate Governance statement requires the Company to state any actions to be taken as a result of resolutions for which votes against have been received from at least 20 per cent of independent votes.

Resolution 2

The Company notes the high percentage of shares cast against the re-election of Mr James Cole as a director of the Company.

The Company recognises that shareholders are dissatisfied with the Company's share price performance and believes the high vote against Mr Cole's re-election to have been a protest vote.

performance and believes the high vote against Mr Cole's re-election to have been a protest vote.

The Board is very satisfied that, in his role as an independent non-executive director and Chairman of the Audit Committee, Mr Cole has acted in the best interests of all stakeholders and the Board had no hesitation in recommending him for re-election. Mr Cole has performed an important service to the Company for which he has received limited remuneration and made frequent and prolonged salary sacrifices, as have all directors.

The Board will continue to engage with shareholders to better understand the motivation behind the vote and explain the important role of independent non-executive directors.

Resolution 4

Resolution 4 is a general shareholder authority to issue new shares. This resolution is never popular amongst shareholders who, understandably, do not wish to see shareholder dilution. However, the Company has no regular income and so the passing of Resolution 4 allows the Company to raise fresh capital. The authority granted by Resolution 4 does, however, limit the number of shares that can be issued and only rarely has the authority been used in full.

The Directors will continue to balance the use of the facility with their duty to ensure that the Company is able to continue as a going concern and advance its business. The Directors have managed to limit the amount of funds raised through new share issues during the last financial year through the sale of a non-core project, securing future royalty rights at the same time. This policy will continue in 2025.

Resolution 5

This allows the Company to carry out fundraisings other than through a rights issue to all shareholders. Rights issues can be prohibitively expensive, particularly for smaller fundraises and they tend to have a low level of success when the share price is volatile. Furthermore, many shareholders hold their shares in broker nominee accounts which can complicate their participation in rights issues.

Shareholder can, however, feel disenfranchised by this resolution. In order to address this concern, the Company will, provided sufficient shareholder demand is communicated to the Company, consider provided a facility for shareholders to participate in fundraisings, alongside and on the same terms as any future share placing, through their broker (a "Broker Option").
