Omega Diagnostics Summons Update

Cambridge Nutritional Sciences plc (AIM: CNSL), the specialist medical diagnostics company focused on promoting a personalised and functional approach to health and nutrition, today provides an update in relation to the summons for its subsidiary Omega Diagnostics Limited ("ODL") regarding a historical breach of Health & Safety regulations arising from the facility used by Omega South West, which ODL sold in 2018. Further details of the summons were disclosed in the Company's announcement of 21 January 2025.

Further to the summons, ODL appeared in Exeter Magistrates Court yesterday and entered a guilty plea to all charges. It was confirmed that the sentencing hearing is to be held on 22 May 2025.

As noted previously, the facility in question was sold in 2018 and in the same year Omega South West ceased all trading activities. This entity has not formed any part of the Company's ongoing operations or business model and there are currently no employees within the Company who had any dealings or involvement with Omega South West.

Further announcements will be made as and when appropriate.
