Metals One Plc
("Metals One" or the "Company")

Appointment of Fairfax Partners Inc.

Metals One (AIM: MET1), which is advancing strategic minerals projects in Finland and Norway, is pleased to announce the appointment of Fairfax Partners Inc., a boutique investor relations firm, to enhance the Company's international communications and investor outreach. The firm will be supporting Metals One with tailored investor engagement and communications designed to enhance international visibility and ensure consistent, high-quality communication with the investment community as the Company advances a high impact critical minerals exploration and M&A strategy. As part of this initiative, Fairfax will develop marketing materials including landing pages, investor presentations, and targeted outreach campaigns.

Jonathan Owen, CEO of Metals One, commented:

"At Metals One we are seeing a notable increase in interest in our Company from investors outside the UK who evidently recognise the opportunity to support Europe's electrification by discovering and developing new sources of critical metals within the continent. Europe is facing an urgent need for responsibly sourced critical metals such as copper, nickel, cobalt, and zinc and is implementing policy to encourage the development of raw materials within the EU. Our high impact projects in low-risk jurisdictions are ideally positioned to supply European manufacturers. We look forward to working with Fairfax Partners to broaden investor awareness of our opportunity to advance our current copper and nickel projects and diversify our commodity base and footprint through opportunistic acquisitions that may include gold and defence minerals projects."

Daniel Southan-Dwyer, President & Founder of Fairfax Partners, added:

"We're excited to work with the Metals One team and look forward to supporting them as they continue to build momentum."
