Change in Portfolio Manager

16 April 2025

Â

BlackRock Latin American Investment Trust plc (the "Company") announces that, as a result of changes being made to BlackRock's Global Emerging Markets (GEM) team structure, Gordon Fraser will become a co-manager of the Company's portfolio alongside Sam Vecht, who will continue as lead co-manager. Mr Fraser will replace Christoph Brinkmann who is stepping down from his role. The changes will have immediate effect.

Â

Mr Fraser is a Managing Director and senior investor on BlackRock's Fundamental Equity Global Emerging Markets Platform. He brings 18 years of EM investing experience, having managed long-only and long-short portfolios on the team. He is also responsible for the team's broader macro research process.

Â

Mr Fraser joined the Global Emerging Markets Platform in 2006 as part of BlackRock's Analyst Program. He earned a BA (1st class) and an MPhil (distinction) in Economics from Cambridge University in 2006. He is also a CFA Charterholder.

Â

No changes are being made to the way the portfolio is managed on a day-to-day basis as a result of these changes.

Â

Carolyn Dobson, Chairman of the Company commented:

Â

"Sam continuing as lead portfolio manager provides continuity and we welcome the addition of Gordon Fraser to the team as a named co-manager. We thank Christoph for his significant commitment and contribution to the Company."
