("Mindflair" or the "Company")

New investment by Sure Valley Ventures UK Software Technology Fund

Mindflair plc, the company investing in next-generation technology focused on AI, is pleased to note the announcement by Sure Valley Ventures ("SVV") of a new investment in Agent Runner AI Limited ("Capably") by the Sure Valley Ventures UK Software Technology Fund ("SVV2") in which Mindflair has an investment.

Capably is an Intelligent Automation platform designed to help businesses delegate work to AI across their organisations. The company's technology merges traditional automation with Agentic AI, enabling reliable, scalable, and autonomous execution of complex tasks without the steep learning curve typically associated with legacy automation tools.

Capably has raised US 4 million in new capital, with the funding round being led by Boost Capital Partners and included participation from several other investors across Europe and the United States, including Concept Ventures, Araya Ventures, Haatch, Koro Ventures, Wayra, Ascension and SVV.

This investment supports Capably's vision of transforming how businesses adopt and scale automation, empowering employees at all levels to achieve more by offloading repetitive work to AI.

Nicholas Lee, Director of Mindflair plc, commented:
