£680,000 New Contract Awards

Westminster Group Plc (AIM: WSG), a leading supplier of managed services and technology-based security solutions worldwide, is pleased to announce it has secured two new significant contract awards totalling £680,000.

The first award is a contract to provide a Parliamentary Broadcast System to an East African Parliament, involving the provision of a sophisticated broadcast and recording audio visual system for the parliamentary debating chamber. The system combines a state-of-the-art multimedia conferencing system with broadcast quality IP cameras and audio system for recording and broadcasting parliamentary debates to media outlets and social media platforms. The advanced multimedia touch screen allows attendees to select language, agenda and meeting data, internet access, voting and identification functionality.

The second contract award is for a worldwide broadcaster to provide advanced security screening systems to their UK operations.

Commenting on the new contract awards, Westminster's Chief Executive Officer, Peter Fowler, said:

"I am delighted Westminster has secured these two new contract awards, both of which we believe offer considerable expansion potential.

"The East African Parliament contract, which our teams have been pursuing on for some time, is located in one of our target countries and offers considerable scope for our services. To have secured this prestigious contract for the country's parliament is an accolade to our global reach and reputation. This contract is just the initial part of what we expect to be an even larger final project and is expected to be completed this calendar year.

"The worldwide broadcaster has operations all around the world and security of their premises and personnel is of paramount importance to them. Given Westminster's extensive portfolio of equipment and services, together with our global operations, we believe there is considerable potential for additional business with this important new customer."
