Dr. Gabriel Castaneda, VP of Al and Research said:

"This accomplishment reflects Guident's top-down commitment to embedding security into our strategy and governance. Integrating this standard into our business model ensures that every technology decision and operational process is aligned with international best practices."

Christopher Romig, Lead Implementer of the ISMS at Guident commented:

"Implementing the ISO/IEC 27001:2022 standard provides us with the opportunity to move from ad-hoc security measures to a structured system. By institutionalizing risk reduction, vulnerability management, and incident response, we've built a culture of accountability that will continue to evolve to deal with emerging threats."

For clients and partners, this milestone reinforces trust and assurance by ensuring information is managed under globally recognized security controls. It strengthens resilience with proactive risk reduction, robust incident response, and business continuity measures, while also supporting compliance with evolving cybersecurity and safety requirements. Guident will continue to mature its ISMS through annual audits, management reviews, and continuous improvement initiatives, ensuring that its security posture evolves with emerging threats and regulatory expectations.
