Charitable house built in a day

Eco buildings is pleased to announce that it has built a house free of charge for a family that as a result of circumstances beyond their control had become homeless.

A senior government official in Tirane having been made aware of the family's position reached out Eco for assistance.

As a consequence Eco commenced building a 2 story 100 sqm house today in Tirane with a team of 4 personnel

Eco built the two story 100 sqm house utilising its proprietary technology and know-how in just 24 hours.

Etrur Albani, Executive Vice Chairman of Eco Buildings, commented:

"We welcome this opportunity to contribute to the community and demonstrate the power of our technological advance in the construction industry. Eco is positioned to apply this quality and speed globally and at scale in addition to being less than half the cost of any conventional building method. Our buildings are environmentally superior and reduce the carbon emissions. The building sector worldwide is responsible for fully 40% of carbon emissions currently contributing to global warming"
