PARIS & PHOENIX--(BUSINESS WIRE)-- Â

TotalEnergies (Paris:TTE) (LSE:TTE) (NYSE:TTE), a major integrated energy company, and Cognite, a leader in industrial AI, announced today a new phase of their strategic partnership. This agreement will scale the deployment - over a period of three years - of the Cognite industrial data and AI platform, across all TotalEnergies' operated upstream assets worldwide, covering the entire value chain from drilling to production. The objective is to harness the potential of TotalEnergies' data to enhance the industrial performance of its sites.

Building on a long-standing collaboration, this new initiative aims to make complex data Al-ready, thereby boosting the value of TotalEnergies' existing data, to improve operational excellence across its assets. The collaboration will position industrial data and Al as strategic levers for TotalEnergies to provide more reliable, efficient, and sustainable energy. This will enable the Company to:

- Access more industrial data, to improve the accuracy of data analysis faster and shorten the lead to adopt applications by providing easy and quick access to relevant, high quality industrial data
- Enable dynamic visualization of assets to enhance decision-making throughout the production lifecycle and monitor critical equipment for production and operational safety
- . Accelerate the use of AI to analyze and drive operational performance across sites

"This partnership with Cognite marks a new milestone in our digital transformation,†said Namita Shah, President of OneTech at TotalEnergies, "By creating the data foundation which unifies our industrial data globally and makes it Already, we are creating the conditions to accelerate Al-driven solutions that will significantly enhance the safety, operational and environmental performance of TotalEnergies. This initiative reflects our ambition to make data and Al strategic levers for more reliable, sustainable, and efficient energy.â€

"TotalEnergies isn't just embracing digital transformation; they are accelerating their entire operation," said Girish Rishi, CEO of Cognite. "Our long-term collaboration is built on a shared vision to scale the impact of Industrial AI. By establishing an Already data foundation, we're equipping their teams to rapidly unlock insights and improve operational excellence across their global assets.â€
