

ASX/AIM RELEASE

26 NOVEMBER 2025

Board changes

Celsius Resources Limited (the Company or CLA) (ASX, AIM:CLA) wishes to provide the following updates in relation to the Board of Directors.

Attilenore "Nene" Manero has advised her intention to resign as a Non-Executive Director of the Company, effective upon the conclusion of the Company's Annual General Meeting ("AGM") to be held today.

The Board thanks Nene for her tireless work over several years to help strengthen governance standards across CLA, contributing to clearer ESG accountability and improved sustainability oversight. Her resignation will allow her to focus more fully on advancing the development of the MCB Project and supporting CLA's broader suite of assets in the Philippines.

Nene will continue in her executive role at MMCI as Chief Sustainability Officer, where she will continue to drive the development of MMCI's ESG systems, social performance programs, and regulatory alignment. The Company remains fully supportive of her and her team as they continue positioning MMCI for long-term, sustainable success.

As previously announced, Executive Chairman Julito "Sarge" Sarmiento will be retiring from the Board at the AGM<sup>[1]</sup>. Sarge has been at the forefront of building local Balatoc Indigenous Community relationships over many years. His connections to local and national government leaders and the Church have been highly valuable during his tenure as Chairman of the Company and we thank him for his efforts over the last several years.

The Company has commenced a search for a new Chair and will update shareholders further at the appropriate time.

The relevant Director Interest Notices will be released to ASX following the conclusion of the AGM.
