Tower Resources Chairman & CEO, Jeremy Asher, commented:

"During my visit to Cameroon in November, made together with our intended partners Prime Global Energies Limited following the announcement of the Presidential election result, we were received by both the Prime Minister and the Director of Civil Cabinet at the Office of the Presidency. They confirmed our understanding, previously disclosed to investors, that the President supports our project, and the approvals will be processed when the new government is in place. Since that visit, we have been waiting for the new cabinet to be announced, so that the documents can be processed by the newly installed officials. In his New Year's speech, the President said the announcement would take place in "days", so we do expect it at any time.

"Since the holidays, we have also been contacted by the Namibian national oil company NAMCOR to confirm the resumption of their due diligence work and documentation for the additional farm-out agreement with Prime for our PEL96 licence.

"In the meantime, we have been working on financing options for the next phase of development for Njonji, as well as carrying out Namibian data acquisition, ensuring the elapsed time is directed in a productive manner, but since time is passing, when our broker offered us some further funds in response to investor demand, we felt it was prudent to accept them."
