Plus500 launches 24/5 CFD trading on stocks and ETFs, delivering continuous access to global markets

Plus500, a global multi-asset fintech group operating proprietary technology-based trading platforms, today announces the launch of 24/5 CFD trading on selected stocks and ETFs, enabling customers to trade around the clock, five days a week.

The launch responds to a structural shift reshaping the industry, with extended-hours trading now accounting for a significant and growing share of global retail activity. 24/5 CFD trading also reflects the Group's accelerating pace of product innovation, delivered through Plus500's proprietary, best-in-class trading platform across its expanding multi-asset offering, including its US prediction markets business.

The launch includes 24/5 CFD trading on SpaceX, one of the world's most closely followed and talked-about companies. SpaceX joins a growing suite of instruments available through Plus500's regulated, proprietary platform, putting customers at the forefront of a rapidly growing segment of global retail investors already trading outside traditional hours, across time zones, ahead of market opens, and in direct response to the events shaping global markets.

Plus500 will continue to expand its 24/5 offering, adding more stocks and ETFs over time based on customer demand, liquidity conditions, and operational considerations. This phased approach is designed to maintain a stable and secure trading environment, consistent with Plus500's commitment to institutional-grade execution and risk management across all of its products.

David Zruia, Chief Executive Officer of Plus500, commented:

"Today's markets operate around the clock, and increasingly our customers expect the flexibility to do the same. The launch of 24/5 CFD trading on stocks and ETFs is our direct response, giving them the ability to act the moment an earnings release lands, a central bank speaks, or a market-moving event unfolds, regardless of the time or time zone. Alongside our recent entry into US prediction markets, this is another demonstration of Plus500's commitment to continuous innovation and our determination to put our customers at the centre of everything we do."

About Plus500

Plus500 is a global multi-asset fintech group operating proprietary technology-based trading platforms. Plus500 offers customers a range of trading products, including OTC ("Over-the-Counter" products, namely Contracts for Difference (CFDs)), share dealing, as well as futures and options on futures.

The Group retains operating licences and is regulated in the United Kingdom, Australia, Cyprus, Israel, New Zealand, South Africa, Singapore, the Seychelles, the United States, Estonia, Japan, the UAE, the Bahamas, Canada, Colombia and India, and through its OTC product portfolio, offers more than 2,500 different underlying global financial instruments, comprising equities, indices, commodities, options, ETFs, foreign exchange and cryptocurrencies. Customers of the Group can trade its OTC products in more than 60 countries and in 30 languages.

Plus500's trading platforms are accessible from multiple operating systems (iOS, Android and Windows) and web browsers. Customer care is, and has always been, integral to Plus500. As such, OTC customers cannot be subject to negative balances. A free demo account is available on an unlimited basis for OTC trading platform users and sophisticated risk management tools are provided free of charge to manage leveraged exposure, and stop losses to help customers protect profits, while limiting capital losses.

Plus500 was admitted to trading on the London Stock Exchange (LON: PLUS) on 24 July 2013. It was admitted to the Equity Shares in Commercial Companies ("ESCC") Category of the Official List and is a constituent of the FTSE 250 Index and the STOXX Europe 600 Index. Website: www.plus500.com.
