Contract Win

Sensors and Effectors division awarded €140.7 million contract from Saab

Cohort, the AIM-listed independent technology group, is pleased to announce that its German subsidiary ELAC (Sensors and Effectors Division) has been awarded a contract with a value of €140.7 million. Under the contract, ELAC will collaborate with Saab to deliver integrated sonar systems for the Polish Orka Submarine Programme. Work will commence immediately and deliveries will continue out to the mid-2030's.

Alongside other recent wins across the Group, the contract is expected to enhance the Group's adjusted earnings per share in the following financial year and beyond.

Andy Thomis, Cohort Chief Executive, said:

"This important order confirms ELAC SONAR's position as a world-leading provider of advanced digital sonar systems for submarines.

"We are pleased to have established this important collaboration with Saab whose A26 submarine has been selected by the Polish Navy. We will work together closely to ensure that these advanced vessels are provided with cutting-edge active and passive sonar systems, creating a world-class underwater capability that will make a major contribution to security in the Baltic Sea region.

"ELAC celebrates its 100th anniversary in 2026, and this order demonstrates its continued status as a leading provider of naval hydroacoustic systems for use in the Baltic Sea and worldwide."
