Risks Relating to the Grubhub Group, page 74

1. We note the amended risk factors in Grubhub's recently filed 10-K, which is incorporated by reference to this filing. On page 12 of Grubhub's 10-K, the company discloses that "certain contracts entered into by the Company contain change in control, anti-assignment, or certain other provisions that may be triggered as a result of the Transaction. If the counterparties to these agreements do not consent to the Transaction, the counterparties may have the ability to exercise certain rights (including termination rights), resulting in the combined company incurring liabilities as a consequence of breaching such agreement." In an appropriate place in your filing, please disclose the extent of Grubhub's potential liabilities pursuant to these agreements, if estimable and/or material.

2. We note your disclosure that "Just Eat Takeaway.com will not be required to, and in reliance on home country practice, may not, comply with certain Nasdaq rules requiring Just Eat Takeaway's 'code of conduct' to be as described in the Nasdaq Listing Rules." 3. Please revise your headers to indicate the periods which are unaudited. In this regard, we note from your disclosure "the balance sheet data as of 31 December 2017 and 2016 and the income statement data for the years ended 31 December 2017 and 2016 are derived from the Just Eat Takeaway.com Group's unaudited consolidated financial statements."

4. You define "employees" here as follows: "Employees are individuals with whom the Just Eat Takeaway.com Group has an employment agreement and includes employees with a part-time employment agreement. Employees exclude the following: (i) workers whose costs are recharged to the Just Eat Takeaway.com Group, (ii) hired workers, (iii) freelancers (including contractors and self-employed persons) and (iv) consultants." However, you include a different definition of employees on page 183: "Employees exclude the following: (i) workers whose costs are recharged to the Just Eat Takeaway.com Group, (ii) couriers employed through agreements with third-party agencies, (iii) freelancers (including contractors and self-employed persons) and (iv) consultants." Please revise for consistency. In this regard, it is difficult to determine how "hired workers" differ from individuals with whom you have an employment agreement, and therefore, why those workers are excluded from your definition of "employee."
