Cautionary statement regarding forward-looking statements

This presentation and the accompanying discussion contain “forward-looking statements” under U.S. securities laws. Forward-looking statements include any statements that are not statements of historical fact. Examples of forward-looking statements include, but are not limited to: (1) anticipated business, balance sheet, cash flow and financial measures and results and related drivers, including guidance, whether on a GAAP or non-GAAP basis; (2) economic, market, industry and industry segment expectations; (3) product performance and changes in market share or customer demands; (4) our ability to successfully execute business, capital allocation, product and growth plans or strategies, or otherwise deliver value for customers and stockholders; and (5) the impact of trade regulations, export controls, tariffs and trade disputes. Forward-looking statements speak only as of the date they are made and are subject to risks and uncertainties that could cause actual results to differ materially from those expressed, including: business, economic, political and/or regulatory conditions in the consumer electronics industry, the semiconductor industry and the overall economy may deteriorate or change; the actions of our customers and competitors may be inconsistent with our expectations; trade regulations, export controls, tariffs, trade disputes, and other geopolitical tensions may inhibit our ability to sell our products; supply chain cost increases, tariffs and other inflationary pressures have impacted and may continue to impact our profitability; supply chain disruptions or manufacturing capacity constraints may limit our ability to manufacture and sell our products; and natural and human caused disasters, disease outbreaks, war, terrorism, political or governmental unrest or instability, or other events beyond our control may impact our operations and revenue in affected areas; as well as the other factors discussed in our filings with the Securities and Exchange Commission (“SEC”), including specifically the Risk Factors described in our annual report on Form 10-K for the fiscal year ended June 29, 2025. You should not place undue reliance on forward-looking statements. Lam undertakes no obligation to update any forward-looking statements.
